Notice

We are pleased to announce that IP-based access to Research4Life has been successfully implemented across our entire campus.

Faculty members, researchers, and students from all institutes — including academic buildings, administrative offices, and residential facilities — can now access Research4Life seamlessly when connected to the institution's internet network.

This enhancement ensures uninterrupted access to vital research resources, supporting academic excellence and research development across all disciplines.

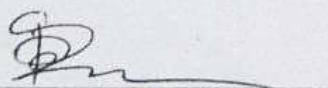

How to Login?

Please follow below link and instruction.
